Core Service Offerings

ENTERPRISE TECHNOLOGY

Longevity has the expertise and proven methodologies required to provide software engineering support services for all phases of the development life cycle. Our consultants have years of experience designing and developing complex systems for numerous government and commercial customers. We offer visionary guidance in innovative technologies and approaches such as cloud based computing, mobile, agile and other areas. Through the development of new business services and innovative approaches, our clients are able to enhance customer relationships, improve service delivery and better manage their business data.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTING

Longevity offers its customers a proven, cost-effective methodology for optimizing service delivery. We provide both strategic and tactical consulting support. We specialize in designing and implementing Grants Management, Business Analytics and Risk Management solutions, as well as Training and Leadership Development, Advisory and Business Transformation and Continuous Process Improvement services. Our continuous program improvement approach leverages industry tested Lean Six Sigma techniques. Our cross-functional, credentialed personnel are adept at supporting our clients' initiatives with innovative technical solutions, expert consulting and project management services, helping our clients re-envision their business processes.

ENTERPRISE SECURITY

At Longevity, we take a multi-faceted approach to security. We work with our clients to provide security intelligence and risk management solutions through a host of Emergency Preparedness and Continuity of Operations (COOP) services, protecting critical business information and systems from unauthorized access. Our services range from providing critical security controls that protect against attack to assisting in the development of compliant risk management programs and policies. The coordination of so many moving parts and gaining the buy-in of so many stakeholders can seem like an overwhelming prospect, and Longevity is pleased to leverage our considerable expertise to lead these efforts and provide real value to your organization.

A True Industry Partner

Supporting the Process from Beginning to End

Longevity proudly serves more than 30 agencies and commercial clients, including:

AWARDS

Longevity is honored to have been recognized for our efforts with the following awards:

- APHIS Medal for Business Process Improvement
- USDA Secretary's Award for Management Excellence
- APHIS Administrator's Award

Past Performance

United States Department of Agriculture (USDA)
Continuous Process Improvement (CPI)

Longevity has served as a business transformation partner for numerous agencies within USDA, providing business process re-engineering services, LSS mentoring, coaching, training and support for process improvement. Through these efforts, we successfully identified numerous areas in which the agency and its staff could implement new, more efficient processes and programs.

Department of Education (ED), Office of Innovation and Improvement (OII)
Grants Management Peer Review Logistical and Administrative Support

Longevity was awarded a multi-year prime contract to support the OII's development and dissemination of grant funding for educational programs. Our team designed, developed and deployed a cloud-based application to manage peer review activities and provided evaluation, monitoring, and technical assistance to grant applicants.

Headquarters Department of the Army Directorate of Mission Assurance (HQDA)
Mission Assurance

Longevity provided contract and program management, developed Protection Program implementation guidance and smart books, developed online training for 12 protection program security elements and designed and implemented internal and external SharePoint sites. Additionally, Longevity provided shelter-in-place kit support for over 14,000 HQDA personnel, replenishing supplies and inventorying kit locations and location points of contact.

USDA, Rural Business and Cooperative Services (RBCS)
Portfolio Analytics and Risk Management Services

Longevity developed comprehensive risk management dashboards and forward looking analytics using industry best practices and leading analytics tools. The resulting analytics provide a view of the portfolio risk by industry segment, geographic distribution, high-risk lenders and borrowers, and even views of event-driven risk events.

NIH, National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute Center for Scientific Review (CSR)
Leadership Training

Longevity provides training for the CSR Support Development Program that focuses on developmental skills to enhance collaboration, teamwork, accountability and consistency within the divisions and offices at CSR and NIH. Longevity developed and delivered a customer tailored professional development training curriculum, facilitated all classroom sessions and identified opportunities for process improvement with quantifiable and strategically aligned results.
